Overview

It is widely regarded that social science research enhances our understanding of society and its functioning, as it opens up debate and gives us a say in shaping our collective future. This, in turn, provides policy inputs for socio-economic development and generates ideas and information that can be used in policy framing, teaching and research. Thus, social science research renders vital services to society and to the country.

India has a long and rich tradition of commissioning research in social science teaching. In ancient times, Takshashila, Nalanda, Vikramashila, Vallabhi, Pushpagiri, and Somapura universities flourished as global centres of learning in different parts of India. The subjects taught in these universities included Vedas, Vedanta, Ayurveda, Medicine and Surgery, Jurisprudence, Mathematics, Astronomy, Physics, Metallurgy, Civil Engineering, Architecture, Philosophy, Grammar, Agriculture, Economics, Commerce, Politics, Statecraft, Military Education, Literature and Craft etc. These universities set very high standards of teaching, learning and research for scholars from across the world. This system of Indian education produced scholars of great stature such as Aryabhatta, Bhaskaracharya, Amarsimha, Chandrabardai, Banbhatta, Dandin, Jivaka Komarabhacca, Mahaviracharya, Charaka, Susruta, Baudhayan, Chanakya, Brahmagupta, Panini, Patanjali, Nagarjuna, Pingala, Gargi, Kanad, Varahamihira, Thiruvalluvar and so on.

In the modern era, under colonial auspices, social science teaching and research in the country, however, was transformed with the introduction of the modern university system in the second half of the 19th century, as exemplified by the coming into existence of the Senate of Serampore

University (1829), the University of Mumbai (1857), University of Madras (1857), University of Calcutta (1857) and Allahabad University (1875). This was the time when the Indian Oriental Renaissance was confronted with the onslaught of the West's Christian missionaries and colonial discourse, and subsequently was demoted due to hegemonic Eurocentric perspectives. The real paradigm breakthrough for social science research came only after Independence, with the rapid expansion of the higher education system as a part of the planned socio-economic development. As the country's development process threw up numerous and diverse challenges that required extensive research and analysis, the Government of India established a Committee for Social Science Research under the Chairmanship of Professor V.K.R.V. Rao in 1965 to review the social science research scenario in the country and make recommendations to accelerate its progress. This led to the establishment of the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) in 1969 to encourage, promote and fund social science research in the country. In due course of our sociological learning curve, we identified issues which are crucial for the future growth and development of social science research in India. It is urgently required to correct distorted perspectives in social science research, engendered by an over-reliance on Western conceptual frameworks. To reinvigorate this corrective exercise, teaching in the mother tongue by using local materials, conducting research by insiders, redefining research priorities, and reorienting the theoretical and methodological framework must be emphasised.

The need of the hour is to shift from merely documenting the 'exceptionalism' of India to engaging in pluralised sociologies of India so as to be able to represent a larger variety of issues, generate new theories and perspectives in order to represent the multiple voices of varied people of India while engaging in international comparison to generate more broadly applicable conceptual insights. Presently, social scientists are endeavouring to discard Western methodology, and in its place, Indic phenomena are being perceived through the actual lens of Indian society and culture.

The ICSSR is an autonomous body under the Ministry of Education, Government of India and a premier organisation with twenty-four (24) Research Institutes (grant-in-aid), seventeen (17) Recognised Research Institutes and six (06) Regional Centres located in different parts of the country.

The ICSSR's aims and objectives, as spelt out in its Memorandum of Association (MoA), are the following:

- To review and survey the progress of Social Science Research and advise the Government on policy issues;
- To fund and promote Social Science Research in Universities/Colleges/Research Institutes;
- To award Doctoral, Post-Doctoral, Senior and National Fellowships to researchers and faculty;
- To award Minor, Major and Collaborative Research Projects to researchers and faculty;
- To fund National and International Seminars and Conferences to disseminate social science research findings;
- To support training and capacity-building programmes for young researchers and faculty.
- To provide International Travel and Data Collection Grants to scholars and faculty.
- To encourage International Collaboration in social science research with well-recognised foreign research funding agencies;
- To fund the publication of journals and books in social science research and strengthen professional social science associations/organisations.
- To provide library, documentation, data and online services for social science research; and
- To indicate periodic themes in neglected and new critical areas of research.

During the last 56 years since its establishment, the ICSSR has been actively promoting and funding social science research in the country. It provides regular maintenance and development grants to its Research Institutes (on a matching grant basis) to study National and Regional research issues from interdisciplinary perspectives. It also fully supports its six (06) Regional Centres, representing the Council within their respective regions, to disseminate the programmes and schemes of the ICSSR. Under the international collaboration programme, the ICSSR has signed bilateral collaborative agreements with 13 countries and one international organisation, including:

- National Research Council of Thailand (NRCT), Thailand
- Vietnam Academy of Social Science (VASS), Vietnam
- National Science Foundation (NSF), Sri Lanka
- U.K. Research and Innovation (UKRI)-Economic and Social Research Council (ESRC) & British Council (BC) U.K.
- German Research Foundation (DFG), Germany
- Korean Social Science Research Council (KOSSREC), Republic of Korea
- Swiss National Science Foundation (SNSF), Switzerland
- National Science and Technology Council (NSTC), Taiwan
- Japan Society for the Promotion of Science (JSPS), Japan
- National Institute for the Humanities and Social Sciences (NIHSS), South Africa
- Philippine Social Science Council (PSSC), Philippines
- Institute of Oriental Studies (IOS), Russian Academy of Sciences
- Academy of Sciences and Arts of Bosnia and Herzegovina (ANUBiH), Sarajevo, Bosnia and Herzegovina
- European Commission (EC)

The ICSSR is also a member of several key international social science organisations, such as the International Science Council (ISC), Science Council of Asia (SCA), Association of Asian Social Science Research Councils (AASSREC), and The Latin American Council of Social Sciences (CLACSO). Additionally, it acts as the nodal agency for the Sub-Commission on Social Sciences under the Ministry of Education's Indian National Commission for Cooperation with UNESCO (INCCU).

Since its inception, the ICSSR has granted 10,176 Major, Minor and Collaborative Research Projects (Including IMPRESS) and Special Call Projects, awarded 8,470 full-term Doctoral Fellowships, 3,547 Post-Doctoral Fellowships, 921 Senior Fellowships and 174 National Fellowships. It has sponsored 5,659 National and 1,557 International seminars/conferences, funded 2,694 scholars for attending conferences abroad and 499 scholars for data collection abroad. The ICSSR has sponsored 1367 Research Methodology Courses and Training & Capacity Building Programmes for young faculty and researchers, provided financial assistance to 1897 scholars for publication of their Doctoral Theses/ Projects/ Fellowship Reports/ Conference Proceedings, and financially supported 1212 social science journals, including 442 professional associations involved in social science research activities. It has also conducted Six Rounds of Surveys on the current status of research in crucial social science disciplines, namely, Economics, Political Science, Sociology and Social Anthropology, Geography and Psychology, in the country. The ICSSR has also published these surveys in collaboration with reputed publishers like Sage, Pearson and Oxford University Press (OUP), etc. The ICSSR also provides research services such as library, documentation, and e-resources to several thousand of social science scholars and faculty across the country through its National Social Science Documentation Centre (NASSDOC).

The ICSSR has been offering its research-based advice, whenever needed, to the Government of India on policy-relevant issues; in particular, it has contributed to the Newton-Vivekananda Programme with the U.K. It has also carried out studies for various Ministries of the Government of India, including the Ministry of Social Justice & Empowerment, the Ministry of Minority Affairs, the Ministry of Home Affairs and the Ministry of Science and Technology. In addition, there is a considerable presence of ICSSR studies and references in various policy documents and reports of the Ministries and the erstwhile Planning Commission.

As the ICSSR has completed 56 years of its existence, it faces significant challenges alongside opportunities while giving direction to social science research in India and actively participating in social science research at a global level. As per global bibliometric data sourced from Scopus, the cumulative number of social science research publications stands at 1,55,89,282 since 1866. India has contributed 4,03,746 publications to this corpus since 1864, reflecting a strong and sustained engagement in the field. In 2024 alone, India produced 62,988 publications in social science research, ranking fourth globally after the United States, China, and the United Kingdom. This accounts for 7.04% of the total global output of 8,93,993 publications in the field for the year. India's increasing contribution underscores its growing role and visibility in the global social science research landscape.

Moreover, with the introduction of the 'National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF)' by the Ministry of Education (previously known as the Ministry of Human Resource Development), Government of India, in 2015, more focus is being laid on the type of research, as the rankings significantly depend on the research orientation and related output of the institutes or universities. Consequently, policymakers are concerned with adopting newer strategies and 'best global practices' to enhance the research quality and culture, with the ulterior aim of improving the global rankings of Indian institutes and universities. This is also reflected in the notable increase of 'Institutes of National Importance', a distinction conferred on premier public higher education institutions in India by an Act of the Indian Parliament. Thus, all institutions entrusted with the task of promoting and supporting research, such as the ICSSR, face this key challenge of promoting advanced, novel and cutting-edge research to help institutes and universities improve their national and global rankings and also build a robust research culture in the country. Nonetheless, there exist immense opportunities that place the ICSSR in an advantageous position to play a leading role in social science research and policy, at the national as well as international levels.

The 21st century is widely said to belong to Asia, where India, Japan and China are perceived as major actors. India and China have already been emerging at a rapid growth rate in the last three decades. The end of the Cold War and the growing impact of globalisation also require India to redefine its position and role at the regional and global levels. Ever since the economic liberalisation of the 1990s, India's global presence has been steadily rising. India has been one of the fastest-growing economies for more than three decades; furthermore, it is the world's fifth-largest economy after the United States, China, Japan and Germany (in nominal GDP terms) and the third-largest by Purchasing Power Parity (PPP) (as per IMF & World Bank). In the next few years, it is projected to be among the top three economies of the world. Given this scenario, there are many issues that constitute common global research concerns, and at the same time, there are a number of national and policy-specific research concerns that individual countries are keen to examine with a view to understanding the existing problems and finding their possible solutions. Rising population, national security, development patterns, water resources, climate change, sustainability, migration, urban infrastructure, inclusiveness, etc., are some of India's specific concerns. Often, given that nations converge in terms of their common problems, the same can be said for their research concerns.

India's aspiration to become one of the global leaders in knowledge creation rests on its research capabilities and infrastructure. The research ultimately must serve society and should contribute towards policy formulation and its objective assessment. At the same time, modern research is transcending the tight disciplinary compartments and moving towards inter- and multi-disciplinarily, where many disciplines combine their intellectual and infrastructural resources to achieve the common objective for the greater benefit of society at large. In this respect, the ICSSR's role acquires a greater significance as we have been promoting such inter- or multidisciplinary research. Even developments in science and technology need to adopt a social science perspective to achieve greater acceptability of new developments, as well as to prepare society to accept and adapt to those developments. Fortunately, all these aspects of robust research and innovation have been well captured by the 'National Education Policy, 2020', which underlines that "Knowledge creation and research are well known to be centrally critical to growing and sustaining a large and vibrant economy, uplifting society and continuously inspiring a nation to achieve even greater heights. [...] A robust ecosystem of research is perhaps more important than ever with the rapid changes occurring in the world today [...]."

India is viewed as a major stakeholder in the global political, economic, and technological environment, and, therefore, its research output is expected to have a larger share of global quality research. New research is leading to many paradigm shifts, which are challenging colonial concepts and theories. There is also a greater emphasis on analysing India's challenges and problems based on our own socio-political and economic conditions, instead of viewing them through a Western conceptual and empirical prism. Such research is better placed to solve various local or community and country-specific problems and suggest innovative solutions and alternatives.

The ICSSR intends to intensely promote social science research in India with the support of the Government and other research organisations. India's high growth rate of social science publications at the international level (Scopus Statistics) is a strong indicator of India's present role, as also in the years to come. Now, it is focusing on both the quantitative expansion of its programmes and schemes, as well as on producing a quality research output. Every year, the ICSSR provides financial assistance to thousands of scholars, faculty and research organisations to encourage and promote quality social science research in the country.

The ICSSR Organisational Structure: The ICSSR's highest decision-making body, known as the Council, has 27 members, which include the ICSSR Chairman and the Member-Secretary, 18 Social Scientists (Non-Ex-Officio members), one Co-opted member and 6 Ex-officio members representing the Government of India. The list containing members of the Governing Council is given in Appendix 1.

The Member Secretary is the Chief Executive Officer and heads the ICSSR Secretariat consisting of Directors, Deputy Directors, Assistant Directors and other officials.

The Council has three standing committees, namely the Research Committee (RC), Research Institutes Committee (RIC) and Planning and Administration Committee (PAC). During the financial year 2024-25, the ICSSR has conducted its meetings of the Council, Research Committee, Research Institutes Committee and Planning & Administration Committee to ensure the smooth functioning of different divisions.

This is the 56th Annual Report of the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) delineating the Council's activities from 1st April, 2024 to 31st March, 2025.

Special Call for Collaborative Research Projects on Vision Viksit Bharat@2047

ICSSR had announced “Special Call for Collaborative Research Projects on Vision Viksit Bharat@2047” on 11th March, 2024. Initially, applicants were given 30 days’ time for submission of proposal but due to parliamentary elections the last date of online submission was extended to 15th June, 2024, which was further extended to 15th July, 2024.

The proposals under the Special Call for Collaborative Research Projects on Vision Viksit Bharat@2047 were invited under following two categories: -

ICSSR received 2404 research proposals. In the category -A total number of proposals received was 1929 and in Category-B 475 research proposals were received.

A screening committee was constituted by the competent authority of ICSSR to check the eligibility of the applicants as per the guidelines. After the first stage of screening, 2389 applicants were found eligible for further evaluation.

All the eligible applications/ proposals were masked and coded in order to ensure a two stage blind review process. The first stage evaluation was organized at ICSSR from 22.07.2024 to 17.08.2024 which was evaluated by the Experts Committee. On completion of first stage of evaluation, 768 proposals were shortlisted, including 639 from category A and 129 from category B.

Research Projects

The Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) promotes interdisciplinary, multidisciplinary, and transdisciplinary research through a variety of schemes under OH-31, open to higher educational institutions such as universities, research centres, colleges, and other recognized academic bodies.

ICSSR funds research projects primarily under two categories:

- Regular Projects: Sub-divided into Major and Minor categories.
- Special Calls: Thematic research calls aligned with national priority areas.

Emerging Priorities in Social Science: ICSSR's New Award Themes

• Collaborative Empirical Research Project on Jal Jeevan Mission (JJM)

ICSSR invited collaborative empirical research proposals focused on the Jal Jeevan Mission (JJM)—a flagship initiative aimed at providing safe and adequate drinking water through tap connections to all rural households. The objective was to evaluate the effectiveness of the scheme in terms of water access, health outcomes, and socio-economic impacts. In response to the call, 610 applications were received, from which 52 proposals were recommended by the experts.

• Collaborative Empirical Research on Solar Energy and Sustainability

To generate insights into solar energy transformation, improve the efficiency and accessibility of solar energy technologies, and evaluate the impact of solar energy on SDG 7. The ICSSR is actively seeking research proposals for collaborative empirical research on solar energy and sustainability, targeting both urban and rural sectors. The goal is to generate insights into solar energy transformation and its impact on sustainable development. This includes evaluating the efficiency, affordability, and scalability of solar energy technologies, as well as assessing their impact on fulfilling Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The call for proposals emphasizes the need for evidence-based research to improve solar power policies and strategies

Under this call in response to the 538 applications received, a total of 43 projects were recommended by the experts.

- Major and Minor Research Projects (2024-25): ICSSR supports, funds, and coordinates research across various areas of the Social and Human Sciences to foster a vibrant and progressive research environment in the country. In alignment with this mission, Major and Minor Research Projects are granted to Indian researchers in Theses fields, aiming to contribute to national development through evidence-based solutions to current and emerging challenges.

In response to the call for Major and Minor Research Project applications, a total of 10,492 proposals were received by the deadline i.e. November 3, 2024 and a total 439 Major and Minor projects were recommended by the experts.

- Total Proposals Received: 10,492
Major Projects: 5,122
Minor Projects: 5,370
- Projects Awarded:
Major Projects: 192
Minor Projects: 247
- Total Projects Recommended: 439

- Multi-Disciplinary Studies on Particularly Vulnerable Tribal Groups (PVTGs of India (2024-25))

Under its Special Research Programme at the Odisha Research Centre, ICSSR announced a call for projects focusing on Particularly Vulnerable Tribal Groups (PVTGs) in India for the year 2024–25. India is home to 75 PVTGs across 18 states and the Union Territory of Andaman & Nicobar Islands. As part of this initiative, ICSSR proposed a series of “Multi-Disciplinary Studies on Particularly Vulnerable Tribal Groups (PVTGs) in India. The call received a total of 1,067 applications, from which 34 proposals were recommended by the experts.

Research Fellowships

In order to provide research opportunities to young, senior and established social scientists and to engage them in full- time research on important themes of their choice, four categories of fellowships, namely, National fellowship, Senior Fellowship, Postdoctoral Fellowship, and Doctoral Fellowship are offered to scholars who are at various levels in their profession.

National Fellowships

National Fellowships are aimed at providing opportunities to eminent Indian Social Scientists to engage themselves in full-time research that have the potential to contribute to advancement of knowledge in social sciences on important themes of their choice or to write books based on their research. The ICSSR has so far awarded 174 National Fellowships. The relevant details are given in Table 2.4.

Senior Fellowships

Senior Fellowships are awarded to outstanding Indian Social Scientists for conducting full time research on themes and issues of national and social concerns proposed by the applicants. These studies are expected to contribute to theoretical and conceptual advancement in different disciplines, help to generate field work based empirical data and contribute in policy making. Doctoral Fellowships

ICSSR Doctoral Fellowships are awarded to selected registered Ph.D. scholars to pursue and complete their doctoral theses in social science disciplines. The main aim of the scheme is to provide financial support to scholars to enable them to focus full time on their research work and bring out quality research output in form of their Ph.D. theses and publications.

ICSSR is providing Doctoral Fellowships under its 'Centrally-Administered Doctoral Fellowship Schemes' and 'Institutional Doctoral Fellowship Scheme' in accordance with the prescribed guidelines. In case of Centrally-Administered Schemes, the fellowships are awarded and monitored directly by ICSSR and the concerned doctoral fellows are affiliated to a university or college. Under the Institutional Fellowship Scheme, the doctoral fellows are affiliated to and monitored by an ICSSR Grant-in-Aid Research Institute.

In addition to the Institutional Doctoral Fellowship scheme, the following three schemes are available under the Doctoral Fellowship Programme:

1. The Full-Term Doctoral Fellowship is awarded for a period of two years or till the theses submission at the university, whichever is earlier.
2. The Short-Term Doctoral Fellowship is awarded for six months period to support scholars who are at final stages of their doctoral work.
3. Contingency Grant is a consolidated grant for meeting the expenses on theses work and is provided to scholars who have not received any contingency grant.

Doctoral Fellowship Awards, 2024-2025

ICSSR had invited online applications for its Doctoral Fellowships for the year 2024-25 by placing a Call for Applications on its website on 02 August 2024. Simultaneously, the ICSSR Institutes were asked to initiate the process of inviting applications. In response to this, 2,944 applications were received online out of which 2,909 were submitted for the Centrally Administered Fellowships schemes and 35 applications were forwarded by ICSSR Institutes. Eventually, 2,843 applicants qualified for evaluation of research proposals by the Expert Committee (2658 for Centrally-Administered Full-Term fellowship, 128 for Short-Term Fellowship, 19 for Contingency Grant and 38 for Institutional Fellowship). On the basis of evaluation report of the expert committee, for which a process of blind review was followed, ICSSR provisionally awarded 483 Full-Term Doctoral Fellowships, out of which 473 were awarded under Centrally-Administered scheme and 10 under the Institutional Doctoral Fellowships scheme. Out of the 473 Centrally-Administered awardees, 190 belonged to General, 47 to EWS (GEN), 129 to OBC (NCL), 71 to SC and 36 to ST categories. The list of fellowship awardees is placed at annexure 4.

Ph.D. Theses and Publications Received in 2024-2025

During the year 2024-25, 266 Ph.D. theses were submitted by the ICSSR Doctoral Fellows, including 12 received from the Institutional Fellowship awardees, the list may be seen at Appendix - 4. In all, ICSSR has so far received 4,480 Ph. D theses from its awardees since this scheme was implemented.

The year-wise information of the number of ICSSR Full-Term Doctoral Fellowships awarded till 2024-25, fellowships withdrawn by the awardees and theses received by ICSSR from its awardees over the years may be seen in the Table 2.7.

ICSSR took proactive steps to seek information on publications carried out by its Doctoral Fellowship awardees of 2022-23 and 2023-24 batches. In response ICSSR received copies of 182 research papers that were published in peer reviewed/ Scopus indexed journals and 38 chapters in edited books. Out of the 182 papers published in journals, 43 papers have been published in Scopus-Indexed journals and 139 in peer reviewed journals, 108 have been published in international and 29 in national journals. The respective list of the 232 papers published are given in Appendix - 4.

National and International Seminars/ Conferences

The ICSSR provides grants to academicians and researchers to organise seminars and conferences in India as a prominent strategy to advance research in various social science disciplines. Seminars enable researchers, academicians, policy-makers, industry partners and other stakeholders with an opportunity to exchange research findings as well as domain-specific ideas. Seminars and conferences also generate significant academic output and research literature on contemporary issues while anticipating the challenges of the future.

ICSSR considers three separate categories of seminar proposals for funding, namely, National, International, and Collaborative seminars. Through its seminar programmes, the ICSSR encourages evidence-based and solution-oriented research that addresses the concerns and questions on policy-relevant issues. Seminars and conferences in thrust areas identified by ICSSR help in developing research deliverables, which may be translatable as baseline policies or policy recommendations.

In addition to its regular calls, ICSSR announced special calls to commemorate the legacy of Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel and Birsa Munda on the occasion of their 150th birth anniversary.

Rashtriya Ekta (National Unity) Seminars

Rashtriya Ekta (National Unity) Seminars aim to carry forward the enduring thought and legacy of Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel. His vision of shaping modern India's political reality and national identity, as well as building robust institutions for Bharat's democratic polity, merits sustained and in-depth academic and research engagement.

Janjatiya Gaurav (Tribal Pride) Seminars

Janjatiya Gaurav Seminars aim to catalyse the ongoing research and deepen the understanding of tribal empowerment, tribal culture and heritage, and develop an appreciation of the sacrifices and contributions of tribal freedom fighters in light of Birsa Munda's 150th birth anniversary celebrations. During the financial year 2024-25, ICSSR received over 1747 proposals for organizing International/ National Seminars/Conferences from all across India, out of which 527 proposals were selected for funding by the Expert Committee. This includes 135 international and 392 national seminar proposals, of which 42 were approved under the Rashtriya Ekta (National Unity) Seminars and 37 under the Janjatiya Gaurav (Tribal Pride) Seminars. The list of seminars approved may be seen at Appendix-5. Further year-wise details about the seminars funded by the ICSSR since its inception may be seen in Table No. 2.9

Training and Capacity Building Programme

ICSSR funds and promotes Research Methodology Courses and Capacity Building Programmes in Colleges, Universities and Research Institutes to enhance the research capabilities of young research scholars and early and mid-career faculty members. These courses are aimed at improving research quality, fostering innovation and addressing complex social issues.

The Training and Capacity Building (TCB) division provides grants to the social science faculties in two categories:

(A) Research Methodology Course (RMC)

The course aims to develop the PhD/PDF scholars as future academicians and social science researchers by strengthening their methodological and writing skills.

(B) Capacity Building Programme (CBP)

This programme aims to improve the general methodological and writing abilities of in-service faculty members, primarily Assistant Professors in social science disciplines, and to expose them to the recent developments in their fields.

Since 1971, when the programme was first conceptualised, 1367 Research Methodology Courses and Capacity Building Programmes have been funded by the ICSSR. During the year 2024-25, a total of 235 proposals for both Research Methodology Course and Capacity Building Programme (RMC-144 and CBP-91) were received and placed before the Expert Committees for evaluation. The Committees approved 117 proposals: 73 under the Research Methodology Course and 44 under Capacity Building Programme. The list of approved Research Methodology Courses and Capacity Building Programme for the year 2024-25 may be seen at Appendix-6.

National Argumentative Essay Writing Competition for Young Scholars

The National Education Policy 2020 asserts that nurturing a culture of outstanding research is fundamental to the development of a robust education system in the country.

The policy envisions overhauling the higher education system by bringing in frameworks to “actively seed research in universities and colleges”. In alignment with the objectives of the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020, the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) organised a National Argumentative Essay Writing Competition for Young Scholars on “Simultaneous Elections in India: One Nation, One Election” in three categories- a) Undergraduate Student b) Postgraduate Student c) PhD Scholar

The competition served as a capacity-building measure for the development of the process of doing research among the young scholars and future researchers. It institutionalizes research skills and strengthens their aptitude in undertaking high-quality research.

A tremendous response of 2,795 entries was received across three categories through online advertisements and social media platforms. After two stages of evaluation, the results were announced, and the prize distribution ceremony was held on 5th December 2024, in the august presence of Honorable Education Minister Shri. Dharmendra Pradhan.

Publication and Research Survey

The Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) makes a significant contribution to the advancement of Social Science research through its Publication and Research Survey Programme, a key initiative aimed at disseminating high-quality scholarly outputs. This division encompasses three core activities: (1) providing grants to Indian nationals for publishing doctoral theses, project/fellowship reports, monographs, and seminar/workshop papers in the social sciences; (2) supporting professional associations, universities, colleges, and research institutes with grants for the publication or continuation of research journals; and (3) offering ad-hoc grants to professional associations and organizations for their maintenance and development. To date, the ICSSR has published 1,900 books, supported 1,212 associations/ organisations for the publication of their research journals, and provided ad hoc grants to 442 associations/ organisations for maintenance and development activities. During the year 2024-25, the ICSSR published eight publications. Similarly, 67 professional organisations and associations of social scientists received an ICSSR grant of ₹71.65 lakh for the publication of their 71 research journals, and 15 organisations received a grant amounting to ₹58.50 lakh for their maintenance and development. The details of published books, grants given to professional associations/ organisations for maintenance and development, and grants for the publication of Research Journals are provided in Appendix 7 and Table 2.11.

Publication and Research Survey Division

Activities: 2024–25

During the 2024–25 period, the Publication and Research Survey Division actively engaged in a series of prominent book fairs, fostering connections with literary and academic communities while promoting its diverse portfolio of publications. These events provided a vital platform for showcasing scholarly works and facilitating intellectual exchange with global and regional audiences.

Participation in Book Fairs

The Division participated in several key book fairs, each offering unique opportunities to connect with publishers, scholars, and literary enthusiasts:

- Frankfurt Book Fair (16–20 October 2024): As a premier international event, the Frankfurt Book Fair attracted publishers and literary experts from across the globe. The Division's participation enabled it to showcase its publications to an international audience, fostering cross-cultural dialogue and collaboration.
- Sahitya Akademi Book Fair (6–15 December 2024): This esteemed national event provided a platform to highlight the Division's contributions to Indian literature and scholarship, engaging with a diverse audience of readers, writers, and academics.
- Pune Book Fair (14–22 December 2024): Held in one of India's cultural hubs, this fair allowed ICSSR to connect with regional literary communities, presenting its publications alongside a rich array of cultural activities.

The fair's diverse selection of books and associated cultural events attracted a broad audience, reinforcing ICSSR's commitment to literary and academic excellence.

Book Launch and Discussion

In addition to its active participation in book fairs, the Publication and Research Survey Division organized a significant book launch event on 29 April 2025. The event marked the formal release of Integral Humanism, a publication that has garnered considerable attention for its scholarly contributions. Following the launch, an engaging discussion on Integral Humanism was held in Mumbai, drawing a distinguished audience of scholars, intellectuals, and members of the literary community. This event underscored the ICSSR's role in fostering intellectual discourse and promoting works of enduring academic value.

National Social Science Documentation Centre (NASSDOC)

The National Social Science Documentation Centre (NASSDOC) was established in 1970 as a division of the ICSSR. It provides library and information services to the Social Science Research community including: academic institutions, autonomous research organizations, policy-making bodies, planning and research units of the government departments etc. To meet the technology-driven world challenges, it uses a web-based digital environment to create, apply and utilise the information with its automated library collection, Web-OPAC, E-Library Portal, Union Catalogue, Online Databases/E-Resources, Digital Repository, Information Gateway etc. Major activities and services of the NASSDOC include: Library, Reference & Information Services; E-resources for ICSSR's Research Institutes & Regional Centres; Compilation of Short Bibliographies/Literature Search Services; Microfilm & Microfiche Services; Value Added Services like Current Awareness Service (CAS); Online and offline workshops under the Continuing Education Programme to enhance research skills and information literacy. International Collaboration and Global Outreach Promoting social science research through international collaboration is one of the major approaches followed by the ICSSR. Under this programme, the Council provides opportunity to both Indian and foreign scholars to interact, learn, research and contribute to social science in India and abroad. The Council undertakes several important activities under the programme which include bilateral and multilateral collaborations with foreign funding councils and Social Science organisations, providing financial assistance to Indian scholars for presenting papers in international conferences and data collection abroad.

The ICSSR has established strong bilateral social science collaborative agreements with its counterparts abroad. Besides, the Council is one of the implementing agencies of the 'Cultural Exchange Programme' and 'Educational Exchange Programme' of the Government of India with other countries.

Our crucial task is to promote and fund innovative, interdisciplinary/multidisciplinary and policy relevant social science research in the country and thus, lead the way in which social science research is to be shaped and strengthened in India which also incorporates collaborative research with similar Councils or agencies abroad. Its vision is to nurture, train and build capacity of social scientists through a comprehensive, challenging and innovative training in research.

The International Collaboration Programme of the ICSSR provides an opportunity to both Indian and foreign scholars in the field of social sciences to interact and research. Financial assistance is also provided to Indian social scientists, who have been invited to present and contribute paper at seminars/conferences abroad. The ICSSR also provides financial assistance to social scientists who have a plan to visit abroad for the purpose of data collection or consulting archival material in connection with their research work.

International Travel Grant for Paper Presentation/ Data Collection Abroad

The aim of this programme is to assist social science scholars in making substantial contributions to important International Seminars/ Conferences. The programme thus promotes academic links amongst the social scientists in India and abroad, providing them with an opportunity to develop new insights which enlarges their research perspectives and contributes to the advancement and dissemination of knowledge in social science subjects.

In pursuance of its policy to promote closer contacts between India and overseas social scientists, the ICSSR has developed two programmes. the first provides financial assistance is provided to Indian scholars, who have been invited to contribute and present papers at International Conferences abroad. The aim of this Scheme is to provide financial assistance to Indian Social Science researchers for presenting an original research paper in an international event (conference, seminar, workshop etc.) of significant importance held abroad.

In its second programme, ICSSR provides financial assistance to scholars who intend to visit abroad for the purposes of data collection or consulting archival material in connection with their ongoing research work.

A year-wise details about the Travel Grant and Data Collection Abroad funded by the ICSSR since its inception may be seen in Table No. 3.1.

Regional Centres

The Regional Centres were established as part of the Council's initiative to decentralise administration, broaden the scope of social science research, and engage regional institutions in promoting research activities. The Regional Centres play a pivotal role in representing the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) within their respective regions. They serve as important platforms for disseminating the ICSSR's vision, programmes, and initiatives among the social science community.

These Centres are also instrumental in fostering collaboration among social scientists, encouraging the formation and strengthening of regional research networks. In doing so, they help integrate the regional academic community with national and international platforms, ensuring a more cohesive and inclusive development of social science research across India.

To support these objectives, Regional Centres engage in a wide array of activities. They promote the documentation and bibliographic compilation of academic resources in regional languages and organize various scholarly events such as seminars, workshops, and conferences. Distinguished lectures by eminent scholars are frequently hosted, and support is extended to professional associations and journals operating in regional languages.

Further, the Centres provide essential services to scholars, including affordable accommodation (where available), study grants for academic travel, and photocopying facilities for accessing scholarly materials. They also offer support for fieldwork and library research, ensuring researchers have access to key resources. Additionally, the Centres undertake initiatives as assigned by the ICSSR and implement other programmes aimed at promoting social science research within the region.

Over time, with the support of the ICSSR and their host institutions, the Regional Centres have developed robust infrastructure to meet the needs of researchers. This includes dedicated libraries, guest houses, hostel facilities, conference and seminar halls, and reprographic services. These resources collectively create a conducive environment for academic engagement and research activities.

Key Objectives of the ICSSR Regional Centres

- Promoting Region-Specific Social Science Research: Regional Centres are committed to initiating and promoting research that address the unique socio-economic and cultural contexts of their respective regions. These efforts actively involve local social scientists and scholars, encouraging inclusive participation and fostering research that reflects regional priorities and concerns.
- Fostering Inter-Regional Collaboration: In line with the achieving goals and objectives of the ICSSR, Regional Centres work to build collaborative linkages with other centers across the country. These partnerships, based on complementary strengths and shared research interests, facilitate the exchange of knowledge and resources to tackle complex social issues that extend beyond regional boundaries.
- Mapping and Utilizing Local Knowledge Systems: Recognizing the importance of indigenous and region-specific knowledge, the Centres engage in identifying, documenting, and utilizing the local knowledge base, particularly from remote and underrepresented areas. Collaborative research with nearby universities and research institutions is encouraged to enrich regional scholarship and integrate diverse perspectives into the national research discourse.

4. Developing Digital Knowledge Repositories: To enhance accessibility and knowledge dissemination, Regional Centres are developing digital platforms and repositories to archive research outputs, datasets, working papers, and policy briefs. These online resources serve as valuable tools for researchers, policymakers, and practitioners, promoting evidence-based decision-making and wider knowledge sharing.
5. Aligning Research with ICSSR Thrust Areas of National Significance: A key objective is to ensure that the research activities supported by the Regional Centres are aligned with the ICSSR's identified thrust areas of national significance. By incorporating these national priorities into their research agendas, the Centres contribute effectively to addressing major developmental challenges and advancing social science research for the greater societal good.

Summary of the Research Activities sanctioned/organised by the Regional Centres in the Financial Year 2024-25.

The Eastern Regional Centre (ERC), Kolkata of the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) began its operations in 1973. It is located at 1/R1, Baishnabghata Patuli Township, Kolkata - 700 094. The ERC covers the states of Bihar, Jharkhand, Odisha, West Bengal and the Andaman and Nicobar Islands. The Centre's primary objective is to bring together social scientists from the region and to promote and strengthen social science research through various academic and collaborative initiatives.

During the year 2024-25, the ERC sanctioned 3 research projects across different Central and State academic institutions. In addition to research projects, the Centre actively supported academic events and capacity-building initiatives. Specifically, it sanctioned 10 conferences, 21 seminars and 4 workshops. Furthermore, the ERC organized 1 research methodology course and 2 training and capacity-building programs to facilitate knowledge sharing and skill development among scholars and researchers.

Additionally, the ERC provided study grants to 2 research scholars, thereby supporting individual research efforts. The Centre organized 4 research activities during the period. These included a workshop on Nari Adalats and a national seminar on Jawaharlal Nehru's ideas on distributive justice. Additionally, the Centre hosted two academic visitors: Dr. Madhumita Nath, who shared insights on climate change, disaster, and gender vulnerability, and Professor Subhasankar Chattopadhyay, who engaged on themes related to capital accumulation and structural transformation. Through these initiatives, the Eastern Regional Centre continues to play a vital role in fostering social science research and promoting academic collaboration across the eastern region of India. The Centre's official website is <http://www.ercicssr.org>.

Established in 1977, the North-Eastern Regional Centre (NERC), Shillong of the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) has, over the past five decades, emerged as a leading institution for the promotion of social science research in the North-Eastern region of India. The NERC covers the state of Arunachal Pradesh, Assam, Manipur, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Nagaland, Tripura and Sikkim. Recently, the Centre has realigned its focus to advance social science research in line with the objectives of Viksit Bharat@2047 and the developmental imperatives of the region. During 2024-2025, the Centre sanctioned 27 seminars, 13 conferences, 7 workshops, 5 research methodology courses, 2 training and capacity building programmes and 2 lectures. The Centre also extended its support to early-career researchers by sanctioning doctoral contingency grants to 19 research scholars, enabling them to meet essential academic expenses related to their doctoral studies, such as fieldwork, data collection, and the procurement of research materials. In addition, study grants were awarded to 2 scholars to facilitate their visits to libraries, archives, and academic institutions for accessing specialized resources critical to their research pursuits.

In addition, the Centre organised 2 workshops, 5 outreach programmes, 1 research methodology course, 2 lectures and 1 interactive discussion focusing on research capacity building, interdisciplinary dialogue, and community engagement. Key events included workshops on research methodology, Indian Knowledge Systems, and library database usage; distinguished lectures on national security and labour market inequality delivered by eminent scholars; and an interactive discussion on the history and ecology of the Bay of Bengal. The Centre also conducted several outreach programmes to mark occasions like International Yoga Day, Independence Day, Republic Day, and Hindi Diwas, along with a special awareness programme on library use for college students, reinforcing its commitment to academic excellence and public awareness.

It also published two issues of its peer-reviewed journal, Man and Society – A Journal of North-East Studies. Furthermore, the Centre has provided academic space and intellectual engagement to numerous visiting scholars and policymakers from the North-Eastern region and other parts of India. The Centre's official website is <https://www.icssrnerc.org/>

The Northern Regional Centre (NRC), New Delhi of the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) was established in 1975. It is located at the Old CRS Building of Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU), New Delhi. The NRC covers the states of Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh, Uttar Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Rajasthan, and the National Capital Territory of Delhi.

The Northern Regional Centre plays a crucial role as ICSSR's representative in the northern region of India. It serves as a platform for social scientists to voice their thoughts and concerns related to the region and present them to the ICSSR headquarters. The Centre aims to facilitate social science research and acts as a bridge connecting scholars from the northern region with national and international academic communities.

In its capacity, the NRC provides financial assistance for research projects, seminars, conferences, workshops, graduate seminars, study grants, lecture series, research methodology courses, capacity-building programmes, and affiliation to ICSSR-sponsored research projects. Research Institutes

The Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) provides salary, development, and research grants to 24 Research Institutes. With its 24 institutes spread across the nation, the Research Institute Division of the ICSSR aims to elevate social science research to new heights. Sponsoring research institutes outside the scope of the University Grants Commission has been a major programme of the Council, aimed at enlarging the base of social science knowledge, improving the quality of research, and promoting an interdisciplinary perspective. These institutes play a vital role by prioritizing important areas and themes identified by the ICSSR and the Government of India. They serve as an important mechanism for implementing the Council's policy of dispersing research talent and building research capabilities across different regions of the country, especially in areas where social science research is still underdeveloped.

The Research Institutes have established close links with scholars both regionally and nationally through various activities such as seminars, workshops, training, and consultancy programmes. Some institutes are closely associated with national and state-level planning and development agencies, thereby strengthening the connection between research and policy making.

Each institute determines its own research direction, covering a wide spectrum of subjects including agricultural and rural development, industrial structure and growth, income distribution and poverty, employment and wages, inter-regional differences in development levels, education, health, nutrition, issues concerning weaker sections of society including women, energy, technology, ecology and environment, social, cultural, historical, and institutional aspects of development. Through these studies, substantial empirical knowledge has been generated on the structure and dynamics of the Indian economy, polity, history, and society at both national and regional levels.

During the last ten years, the Institutes have completed 2646 research projects. These projects cover a broad range of issues related to the areas mentioned above. Significantly, these efforts are not only interdisciplinary in character but also focus on regional and local problems. As a result, the Institutes have become centres for research on region-specific issues, greatly contributing to awareness of development challenges and potential across the country. In terms of publications, the Institutes have produced 1362 books and reports, 5622 research papers and articles, and 1785 working papers over the last ten years.

Another important focus of the Council has been the training of young social scientists through the Research Institutes via Ph.D. programmes, workshops, and seminars. Over the past ten years, 462 Ph.Ds have been awarded. The Council rightly takes pride in its role in promoting the research and training efforts carried out by these Research Institutes.

The ICSSR's Grant-in-Aid Research Institutes play a pivotal role in promoting and advancing social science research in India. During the year under report, these Institutes undertook a wide range of research projects addressing critical social, economic, political, and cultural issues relevant to contemporary India and beyond. A total of 250 research projects were completed during the year, demonstrating the Institutes' active engagement with diverse themes such as rural development, education, health, gender studies, governance, public policy, Indian economy and emerging social challenges. These projects are often interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary in nature, combining insights from sociology, economics, political science, anthropology, history, and other allied disciplines to provide holistic perspectives on pressing issues. In addition to the completed projects, there were 281 ongoing studies at the end of the reporting period. These ongoing projects indicate the sustained momentum of research activities within the Institutes and their continuous commitment to generating new knowledge. Further the research Institutes have undertaken 108 new research projects during the financial year 2024-25.

Research institutes are continuously engaged in the generation and dissemination of new knowledge through a variety of scholarly outputs. These outputs contribute not only in advancement of academic understanding but also informed policy decisions and public discourse. To ensure wide accessibility and impact, the findings from research studies conducted by the faculty are disseminated through multiple channels such as research papers, journal articles, books, chapters in edited volumes, monographs, working and occasional papers, research reports, and policy briefs.

During the reporting year, the faculty members of the Institutes made significant contributions to scholarly literature. A total of 384 research papers and articles were published in reputed national and international journals, reflecting the depth and breadth of academic engagement across disciplines. Furthermore, the faculty authored 105 chapters in edited books, showcasing their expertise and collaborative engagement in multi-author academic volumes. In addition to these contributions, 6 occasional papers and 54 working papers were published, facilitating timely discussions on emerging research themes and policy concerns. The faculty also authored 45 books, underscoring their sustained efforts to contribute comprehensive academic texts to their respective fields. Moreover, 56 research reports were produced, often addressing pressing social, economic, and developmental issues, thus serving as vital resources for policymakers, practitioners, and stakeholders. The publication of 5 monographs further illustrates the in-depth analytical work undertaken by the faculty, while 17 policy briefs were issued to provide succinct, actionable insights aimed at influencing public policy and administrative decision-making. Collectively, these diverse publications reflect the Institutes' strong commitment to academic excellence, knowledge dissemination, and meaningful societal impact.

The Institutes also undertake training of young social scientists and assist fresh researchers in designing and conducting their research. To this end, doctoral fellowships have been provided to these Institutes. Some of the Institutes have been assisting in teaching and training programmes for Ph.D. students. In addition, as per the Council's policy, they participate in postgraduate teaching, research guidance in the universities and also involve the university teachers in their research programmes. During the year, 354 research scholars were working under the guidance of the faculties of the Research Institutes, 58 were awarded Ph.D. degrees and 53 scholars submitted their doctoral dissertations.

In addition to their substantial research output, the Research Institutes demonstrated a strong commitment to academic engagement, professional development, and knowledge exchange through the organization of a wide range of scholarly and capacity-building events. During the year 2024-25, a total of 508 research programmes including 109 seminars, 36 conferences, 85 workshops, 166 lectures, 16 research methodology courses, 51 training and capacity-building programmes and 45 webinars were organized by the Institutes. These events served as vital platforms for intellectual discourse, interdisciplinary collaboration, and the dissemination of cutting-edge research findings. Seminars and conferences attracted participation from scholars, practitioners, and policymakers, fostering dialogue on contemporary issues of national and global relevance. Workshops and lectures provided opportunities for in-depth exploration of specific themes and the sharing of best practices. Equally significant was the organization of research methodology courses and training programmes, aimed at enhancing research skills, analytical capabilities, and domain-specific knowledge among students, early-career researchers, and professionals. The Institutes' active role in conducting these activities reflects their broader mission of capacity building, knowledge transfer, and fostering a vibrant academic community. Collectively, these efforts underscore the Institutes' integral role in not only advancing research but also nurturing intellectual growth and professional development within and beyond the academic sphere.

Recognized Institutes

The Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) has recognized 17 research institutes under its ICSSR Recognised Institutions Scheme, each of which has been consistently contributing to both academic and policy-based research in the field of social sciences since their establishment. These institutions have established themselves as vital centres of intellectual inquiry, producing in-depth analyses on complex historical developments, socio-cultural dynamics, and a wide range of contemporary issues including national security, strategic affairs, economic development, energy policy, resource management, and global governance.

The Recognized Institutes are continuously encouraged to conduct policy research in the thrust areas and themes identified by the ICSSR especially in their specific geographical areas and in the domains of their core strength and expertise of research. These institutions, though diverse in their thematic focus and geographic location, share a common commitment to fostering inclusive development, addressing social inequalities, and influencing evidence-based governance. Their collective work spans disciplines such as education, public finance, social exclusion, development studies, gender studies, strategic affairs, and cultural studies. A distinctive focus of many of these institutes is their engagement with the cultural, societal, and economic issues affecting tribal and marginalized communities in India. Through interdisciplinary research, case studies, and grassroots engagement, they explore the challenges faced by these communities and are expected to propose actionable policy recommendations.

In addition to conducting rigorous research and analysis, these institutions actively engage in capacity building by organizing training programs, workshops, and educational initiatives to develop a cadre of scholars and practitioners in social science research. To amplify their impact, the recognized institutes organize conferences, seminars, lecture series, panel discussions, and thematic publications. Through such efforts, these institutions aspire to function as catalytic forces in shaping public policy and aim to establish themselves as leading think tanks, contributing meaningfully to India's socio-political and economic transformation.

Across all these institutions, the role of academic publications is central to their missions. They publish journals, working papers, and policy briefs that serve both scholarly and policy-making audiences. These outputs facilitate intellectual engagement, inform public debates, and help translate complex research findings into accessible formats for wider consumption.

Through their collective efforts, these ICSSR-Recognized Institutes represent a rich ecosystem of social science research in India. They not only contribute to academic scholarship but also serve as critical agents of change by informing policy, promoting inclusive development, and building intellectual capital. Odisha Research Centre (ORC), Bhubaneswar

The Odisha Research Centre (ORC), Bhubaneswar seeks to explore the less-explored dimensions of Odisha's diverse histories, interrogate its present realities, and engage critically with its evolving futures—fostering intellectual inquiry that bridges disciplinary and temporal boundaries.

In its future research endeavours, ORC will address the interrelated dynamics of region, identity, governance, culture, and development—not as isolated subjects but as complex, historically shaped fields of inquiry. The aim is not only to study Odisha as an object of research, but to develop Odisha as a conceptual framework for understanding broader socio-cultural and political processes across time and space.

Core Objectives of ORC

- Knowledge without Borders: To promote expansive, multi-sited scholarship that bridges the empirical and the conceptual across disciplines—history, literature, anthropology, political science, economics, ecology, and technology—challenging rigid academic silos.
- Archiving the Unarchived: Through a robust digital repository, the Centre is committed to preserving Odisha's rich, yet often invisible, tangible and intangible heritage—including traditional ecological wisdom, performative cultures, maritime histories, vernacular sciences, and indigenous lifeworlds.
- Public Humanities in Practice: To engage public through exhibitions, dialogues, publications, and open-access forums—democratizing research and allowing knowledge to circulate beyond the walls of academia.
- Nurturing New Vocabularies: To foster intellectual capacity through fellowships, internships, curriculum design, faculty enrichment, and digital pedagogies (including MOOCs and open textbooks), while mentoring the next generation of scholars rooted in local realities and alert to global questions.

- Policy as Praxis: To engage in evidence-based policy research in areas such as sustainable development, tribal welfare, education, heritage preservation, and social equity—bridging the gap between research and policymaking by fostering collaboration among scholars, civil society, and government institutions.

The Odisha Research Centre organized an international workshop titled Timeless Threads: Jagannath at Home and the World on 9th to 10th February 2025 at CSIR-IMMT, Bhubaneswar, with over 270 participants. The event explored the historical evolution, global spread, artistic representations, and future of Jagannath culture. Four sessions addressed key themes: historical interpretations of Jagannath, his global presence through the diaspora, literary and artistic depictions, and contemporary challenges amid globalization. Scholars discussed Jagannath's role in shaping Odia identity, the deity's growing global footprint, and his representation across media. Roundtable discussions also proposed multidisciplinary research initiatives. Outcomes included plans for publishing the proceedings, developing digital archives, launching collaborative projects, and engaging the diaspora. The workshop reaffirmed Jagannath's enduring cultural significance, highlighting the need to preserve and reinterpret his legacy for future generations in a rapidly changing world.

2. Sailing Through Time: Odisha's Maritime Heritage and Blue Economy Futures

The Odisha Research Centre organized another workshop titled Sailing Through Time: Odisha's Maritime Heritage and Blue Economy Futures on 29th to 30th March 2025 at CSIR-IMMT, Bhubaneswar, with over 350 participants. It brought together historians, archaeologists, policymakers, and scholars to examine Odisha's ancient maritime legacy and its relevance to India's blue economy. Sessions explored historical trade routes, port systems, and cultural exchanges with Southeast Asia, alongside contemporary issues like coastal tourism, aquaculture, and marine biodiversity. On the second day, over 40 papers were presented by researchers, with roundtable discussions on long-term documentation and research initiatives. Key discussions emphasized reclaiming Odisha's maritime histories, leveraging the blue economy for sustainable growth, and using historical linkages to promote cultural diplomacy. Outcomes included plans for a publication of proceedings, collaborative multidisciplinary research, documentation of shipbuilding and coastal livelihoods, and tourism strategies grounded in maritime heritage. The workshop envisioned a development model rooted in Odisha's oceanic past and ecological future.

Library

The K. N. Raj Library houses an extensive and diverse collection of 138,727 resources, which includes books, reports, government publications, theses and dissertations, 726 eBooks, and 18,419 journal back volumes, covering a broad spectrum of social science disciplines. In the academic year 2024–25, the library subscribed to 65 national and international journals and 12 regional and national newspapers, further enriching its repository of knowledge.

A significant development in January 2025 was the library's access to the Government of India's One Nation One Subscription (ONOS) e-journals initiative, made possible through the generous support of ICSSR-NASSDOC. This initiative allows the CDS community to access over 13,000 e-journals. In addition, the library has subscribed to a number of key e-journal databases including the Oxford Online – Social Science Collection (86 journals), Wiley Online (22 journals), Project MUSE – Social Science Collection (113 journals), and ScienceDirect – Economics, Econometrics, and Finance (SD-EEF) Collection (106 journals). The library also maintains a multimedia collection of 682 CDs/DVDs.

The library is fully computerized and managed through the open-source software Koha. For user convenience, the online catalogue (WEB-OPAC) is accessible at <https://cdslibopac.ltsinformatics.com>.

With support from ICSSR-NASSDOC, the library also provides access to vital databases such as EconLit (599 e-journals), JGate, JSTOR (2,400 e-journals), IndiaStat, Policy Commons, ProwessIQ, and Statista.

For statistical research, the library offers access to comprehensive databases including the Annual Survey of Industries, Census of India Data, CMIE ProwessIQ, EPWRF India Time Series, National Sample Survey Unit Level Data, IMF databases (Balance of Payments Statistics, Direction of Trade Statistics, and International Finance Statistics), RBI Database on Indian Economy, UN Comtrade, and World Bank Data.

Library users benefit from a range of digital and physical services such as online content alert services, e-journals and e-books access, an information repository, and bibliographic and literature search support. Additional user services include circulation and reservation services, journal contents page alerts, a library blog, new additions list and display, photocopying, document and data delivery, and inter-library loan facilities through DELNET. The library also offers a BHIM UPI-based payment facility for user transactions.

With its vast and specialized collection, along with modern infrastructure and user-focused services, the K. N. Raj Library serves as a vital knowledge and research hub for students, faculty, and researchers at CDS, as well as scholars from other institutions within Kerala and beyond.

Library

The Library provides reading facilities to users along with WiFi access for browsing library e-resources and other reading materials. Lending services are restricted to institutional members only. Researchers benefit from reference services, bibliographic support, customized information services, database searches, referral services, and reprographic facilities. The reading room is well ventilated and equipped with sufficient ports for connecting electronic devices. Additionally, special reading desks are arranged inside the Library to accommodate differently-abled users.

Currently, the Library does not use any specific digitization software. However, the entire book collection is catalogued online. Book circulation is managed electronically through KOHA, an integrated library system that enables real-time processing. Alongside this, the Library maintains manual records of circulation.

The Library has preserved nearly all back volumes of journals since its inception and continuously attempts to acquire any missing issues when possible. No special acquisitions were made during the financial year 2024-25. For e-resources, the Library relies entirely on the ICSSR-NASSDOC Consortium, accessing databases like JSTOR, CMIE ProwessIQ, J-Gate, IndiaStat.com, and more. A significant addition this year was the One Nation One Subscription (ONOS) scheme launched by the Ministry of Education, Government of India, which provides access to many prominent e-resources from leading publishers through the Centre's IP addresses. The ICSSR-NASSDOC team played a vital role in guiding librarians across all ICSSR research institutes to activate this IP-based service. The Library expresses gratitude to ICSSR-NASSDOC for their continuous support to the social science research community.

During the financial year 2024-25, the Library renewed subscriptions for approximately 23 Indian journals and one new journal was added to the Library's collection.

Library

The Vina Mazumdar Memorial Library (VMML), a part of the Centre for Women's Development Studies (CWDS), serves as a vital resource center for gender and women's studies. Named in honor of the late Prof. Vina Mazumdar, the library boasts an extensive collection of books, articles, theses, reports, and audio-visual materials, including unpublished works acquired through institutional networks. Its key focus areas include disabilities, violence against women, marginalized castes, women's health, employment, migration, sexuality, law, literature, and resources in Hindi.

Currently, VMML houses approximately 17,654 books and mimeograph papers. The Koha catalogue contains over 138,578 records, featuring regularly updated full-text journal and newspaper articles accessible through the intranet. The library subscribes to seven newspapers—The Times of India, Hindustan Times, The Hindu, The Indian Express, The Telegraph, Deccan Herald, and Hindustan (Hindi). Additionally, it subscribes to 14 Indian journals, such as The Indian Journal of Social Work, Social Scientist, Social Action, Mahila Vidhi Bharti (bilingual), Women's Link, and Economic and Political Weekly (EPW). The library also receives three journals—Asian Journal of Women's Studies, Hecate, and Social Change—through exchanges for the Indian Journal of Gender Studies (IJGS). This year, fewer journals are being subscribed to directly, as many are now accessible via ONOS. Furthermore, VMML holds 1,197 bound volumes of journals.

VMML offers a wide range of information services, including OPAC (Online Public Access Catalogue), a bi-monthly Current Awareness Bulletin, reference and referral support, web bibliographies, full-text database searches, inter-library loans, reading room access, and reprographic services. The library has also developed the Knowledge Gateway, a dedicated portal for Women's Studies in the South Asia region, and maintains a Digital Archive in DSpace, housing over 5,000 digitized documents. To support visually challenged scholars, selected materials have been converted into DAISY format.

The Dr. V. K. R. V. Rao Library stands as one of India's foremost research libraries specializing in the social sciences. Since its establishment in 1972, it has played a vital role within the institution by providing efficient and timely support to a diverse group of users, including faculty members, researchers, PhD scholars, policymakers, administrators, consultants, and students from across the country. The library boasts an extensive collection of both contemporary and historical statistical sources published by central and state governments as well as multilateral institutions. These resources include statistical yearbooks, bulletins, population censuses, trade statistics, and a broad array of economic, financial, and social data.

The library offers a variety of essential services such as research data assistance, lending, and reference support. It also provides current awareness services, keeping users informed about new acquisitions, journal listings, current contents, and monthly article indexes. Fully computerized and automated with Koha software, the library has integrated RFID-enabled technology for self-check-in/check-out kiosks, security gates, staff workstations, and handheld readers used for stock management. Additionally, it is registered under the Government of India's One Nation One Subscription (ONOS) initiative, which enhances access to scholarly content.

Support from ICSSR-NASSDOC further strengthens the library's resources by providing access to several key databases, including CMIE Consumer Pyramid (Cpdx), Prowess IQ, Indiatat, JSTOR, Statista, and Sage Research Methods. The library's physical collection currently includes 1,60,918 documents, comprising 50,250 books, 65,500 reports, 568 CD-ROMs, 350 theses, 18,500 gift pamphlets, and 25,750 back volumes of important journals—many maintained from their inaugural issues.

With the ONOS initiative covering numerous journals, the library subscribes only to titles not included under ONOS. Presently, it subscribes to 35 journals, including 15 international and 20 national titles such as Journal of Political Economy, New Left Review, Pacific Affairs, and Review of Economics & Statistics. The library also subscribes to 13 regional and national newspapers, including The Times of India, The Indian Express, The Hindu, Vijaya Karnataka, and Prajavani among others.

The digitization program at the library is progressing steadily, having digitized over 26,000 documents so far. These digitized materials are hosted on the DSpace digital library server located within the library, making them accessible to the global social science research community.

Library

The MIDS Library, with its extensive collection of knowledge resources and innovative information services, plays a vital role in supporting the intellectual pursuits of students and faculty at the institute. Where possible, these services are also extended to the general public. The library houses over 63,000 printed documents and subscribes to 105 journals.

The library offers a variety of services categorized under online and customized services. Among its online services, the library provides an Online Public Access Catalogue (OPAC) for easy access to its holdings. It subscribes to nearly 105 academic journals in print, of which over 57 journals (55 print plus 2 online) are accessible online within the campus. Additionally, through the ICSSR consortium, members can remotely access resources such as J-Stor, IP-based Econlit, IndiaStat, and Prowess IQ. The library regularly procures electronic databases like the Census of India, NSSO, and ASI, available in CD-ROM/DVD formats, and subscribes to online databases such as Economic Outlook from CMIE and EPWRF time series. The ICSSR also supports annual subscriptions to Indiatat.com. Furthermore, the digital library service provides users with electronic documents, reports, and journals sourced from the institute's archives, public domains, and partner libraries.

Customised services include reference assistance to help users locate materials, document delivery services in collaboration with academic libraries in Chennai, and reprographic services offering photocopying. The library periodically updates students and faculty about new arrivals of books and reports. It also provides tailored bibliographic information based on specific subject interests. As a member of Anna University Central Library and the British Council Library, MIDS Library facilitates inter-library loan services to faculty and research scholars.

For its in-house operations, the library utilizes the LIBSYS software. Access to key databases such as J-Stor, Econlit, CMIE Economic Outlook, EPWRF, and IndiaStat enriches the academic resources available to students and faculty. The library acquires databases on CD-ROM/DVD, including collections like the Census of India, DLHS, and NSSO, covering topics such as consumer expenditure, employment, household assets, morbidity, and healthcare.

Currently, MIDS Library subscribes to 55 international and 50 Indian periodicals. In the year 2024-25, the library has added 333 new books to its collection, further enhancing the resources available to its users.

The ICSSR

After Independence, Bharat sought to regain its indigenous model of social and human sciences research that required decolonization of the education and research. As the country's development process threw up numerous and diverse challenges that required extensive research and analysis, the Government of India established a Committee for Social Science Research under the Chairmanship of Professor V.K.R.V. Rao in 1965 to review the social science research scenario in the country and make recommendations to accelerate its progress. This led to the establishment of the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) in 1969 to encourage, promote and fund social science research in the country. Since its inception, ICSSR has played a pivotal role in building the capacities of early-career and senior researchers through grants and projects, as well as training in research methodologies, with the objective of producing high-quality research usable for policy intervention and policy making. It has also made an immense contribution to humanities and cultural research as a way to decolonize the formations of self and society across the length and breadth of the nation.

It has been recognized that the need of the hour is to shift from merely documenting the 'exceptionalism' of India to engaging with the diverse social realities of the country with a philosophical stance of inwardness, to be able to develop an original and fresh understanding of a larger variety of issues, generate new theories and perspectives and represent the multiple voices of varied people of India.

In the 21st century, when the nation aims to become a Viksit Bharat by its centenary year of Independence, 2047, ICSSR seeks to establish a symmetry between social research and society. In line with the recommendation of the National Education Policy (2020), ICSSR seeks to make social research equitable, affordable, inclusive, socially sensitive, and globally competitive.

ICSSR supports 24 Research Institutes (grant-in-aid), 17 Recognized Research Institutes and Six Regional Centres located in different parts of the country.
